Tucked into 13± private acres at the end of a quiet dead-end road—surrounded by open fields, mountain views, and the kind of stillness you can feel—this property blends timeless craftsmanship with modern comfort.

Originally built in 1865 and completely transformed, the home now lives like a brand-new mountain retreat—freshly painted inside and out, with a fully finished basement and curated furnishings included.

Step inside more than 3,800 square feet of light-filled living space designed for connection and ease. Wide-plank pine floors, exposed beams, and a stone fireplace anchor the main living area, while the open kitchen and dining room create the perfect setting for gatherings with family and friends. The design strikes the perfect balance between fresh, modern finishes and the home's classic New England charm.

With six bedrooms and four full baths, there's space for everyone to relax. Downstairs, the walk-out basement feels like its own hideaway—wood stove, bar-top and pool table ready for late nights, and a workshop tucked off to the side for projects and gear.

Outside, the property opens to rolling fields, a restored barn, and views that stretch toward the western hills. From here, you're just minutes to Bethel Village and Sunday River Resort, and only a short drive to the New Hampshire border, the White Mountain National Forest, and the Androscoggin River—a paradise for skiing, kayaking, hiking, and everything Maine's western mountains have to offer.

It's private yet connected—close enough for every adventure, but far enough to hear nothing but the wind through the trees. A rare offering where elegance meets ease, heritage meets design, and every sunset feels like it was made for you.

REAL ESTATE BROKERAGE RELATIONSHIPS FORM

Right Now You Are A Customer

Are you interested in buying or selling residential real estate in Maine? Before you begin working with a real estate licensee it is important for you to understand that Maine Law provides for different levels of brokerage service to buyers and sellers. You should decide whether you want to be represented in a transaction (as a client) or not (as a customer). To assist you in deciding which option is in your best interest, please review the following information about real estate brokerage relationships:

Maine law requires all real estate brokerage companies and their affiliated licensees ("licensee") to perform certain basic duties when dealing with a buyer or seller. You can expect a real estate licensee you deal with to provide the following customer-level services:

- ✓ To disclose all material defects pertaining to the physical condition of the real estate that are known by the licensee;
- ✓ To treat both the buyer and seller honestly and not knowingly give false information;
- ✓ To account for all money and property received from or on behalf of the buyer or seller; and
- ✓ To comply with all state and federal laws related to real estate brokerage activity.

Until you enter into a written brokerage agreement with the licensee for client-level representation you are considered a "customer" and the licensee is not your agent. As a customer, you should not expect the licensee to promote your best interest, or to keep any information you give to the licensee confidential, including your bargaining position.

You May Become A Client

If you want a licensee to represent you, you will need to enter into a written listing agreement or a written buyer representation agreement. These agreements create a client-agent relationship between you and the licensee. As a client you can expect the licensee to provide the following services, in addition to the basic services required of all licensees listed above:

- ✓ To perform the terms of the written agreement with skill and care;
- ✓ To promote your best interests;
 - For seller clients this means the agent will put the seller's interests first and negotiate the best price and terms for the seller;

COMPANY POLICY ON CLIENT-LEVEL SERVICES — WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

The real estate brokerage company's policy on client-level services determines which of the three types of agent-client relationships permitted in Maine may be offered to you. The agent-client relationships permitted in Maine are as follows:

- ✓ The company and all of its affiliated licensees represent you as a client (called "single agency");
- ✓ The company appoints, with your written consent, one or more of the affiliated licensees to represent you as an agent(s) (called "appointed agency");
- ✓ The company may offer limited agent level services as a disclosed dual agent.

WHAT IS A DISCLOSED DUAL AGENT?

In certain situations a licensee may act as an agent for and represent both the buyer and the seller in the same transaction. This is called disclosed dual agency. Both the buyer and the seller must consent to this type of representation in writing.

Working with a dual agent is not the same as having your own exclusive agent as a single or appointed agent. For instance, when representing both a buyer and a seller, the dual agent must not disclose to one party any confidential information obtained from the other party.

Remember!
Unless you enter into a written agreement for agency representation, you are a customer—not a client.
